MEMORANDUM FOR THE RECORD

SUBJECT : Clandestine ELINT Study -- [REDACTED] 25X1A

25X1A

1. [REDACTED] called today to say that he felt that he had the right kind of people in his study group to put on the clandestine ELINT study. He characterized them as comprehensive thinkers with broad theoretical backgrounds.

25X1A

2. [REDACTED] indicated that he was moving slowly due in part to security consideration. He asked whether or not scientific people could be used in the program if they were not witting of the ultimate use of the equipment and the other restrictions. I indicated that this should present no problem.

25X1A

3. [REDACTED] asked whether we wanted a new proposal or an amendment and I told him that we only wanted his assurance that the study would first be handled by his people rather than having the work entirely hardware oriented.

25X1A

4. [REDACTED] volunteered to bring some of his people to Washington for a briefing to obtain a fuller understanding if this were desirable. I indicated that no special trip should be made, and that an appropriate discussion could be held at their plant at the time the contract was negotiated. If, however, he or his people were in the vicinity on other business, we would be happy to talk to them about the study.
